To whom it may concern,

I would like if you would include policies that would help the farmers of Roscommon and the farming sector recover. Country areas need agriculture or else there'll be no one in them but its hard for any young farmer to try and earn a living with out some support. Setting up agricultural businesses could help in this and they need to be located in the countryside. As well as this farmers should be allowed to give sites to their family to build a house without any restrictions. Young families are needed to keep the country going.
